

L. P. Fisher, newspaper advertising agent, 21 Merchants' Exchange, San Francisco, is our authorized agent. This paper is kept on file in his office.

A TRIBUTE FROM ABROAD.

The San Francisco Call has this to say of young Crow:

"Were there a national medal for bravery one of the highest class should be awarded to the youth of 14 in Nevada who at the imminent risk of his own life rescued six children who had fallen into the Carson river by the ice breaking. The last child rescued was swept under the ice, and this little hero plunged into the chill water beneath the ice and swam forty feet to a hole, out of which he came safely with the child. It is right that soldiers and sailors who do valiant deeds should be honored with medals and promoted, but what braver action could any man do than this lad who has saved the lives of six children and never gave a thought of his own? That boy has already a great name for courage."

Notwithstanding the hard times that are before us, and the dark clouds that have hung like a black pall over our country for the past twelve months, the silver lining begins to show in the dim distance, and we may hope to see in the near future the effulgence of the ethereal panorama burst into full glory upon this (now) distracted country. Now that tariff legislation is drawing so near the end, and the doubt as to how it will terminate, is being removed, our manufacturers are again starting the wheels of industry, and giving employment to thousands throughout the land. About forty manufacturing plants have started since January 1, giving employment to over 200,000 men. Perhaps ere long a better condition of things will reach the Western States, and if our present Congress will do anything to elevate silver and place it where it rightfully belongs we may look for reasonably good times.—Enterprise.

Cut Himself.

Washington, January 20.—Unofficial information has been received in Washington of another incident in connection with the imprisonment of Mrs. Maybrick, the American woman serving a life sentence in England for the poisoning of her husband in Liverpool. The report comes from Government sources in London, but appears to have been carefully concealed from publicity there. The story as received here has it that Mrs. Maybrick was recently discovered to be bleeding profusely, and claimed to have had a hemorrhage. The prison officials, however, reported to the Government that she had deliberately cut herself internally with glass.

Good Idea.

L. H. Taylor, a Reno civil engineer, proposes to publish a pamphlet for distribution during the Mid-winter Fair, advertising Nevada's resources, for which he has gathered reliable statistics. Mr. Taylor compiled some valuable irrigation statistics during the last session of the Legislature, and the APPEAL knows him to be in every way qualified to furnish statistics which would advertise Nevada's resources.

The Storm.

The lively wind of the past two days blew up a heavy rain storm, and all day yesterday the wind howled and sought through the leafless trees. In Virginia the snow was badly drifted, and the snow plow ran off the track. If we don't get any more snow here it won't do any harm, for the hills west of Carson covered with deep snow, which insures plenty of water for next summer.

Winnows Gold From Sand.

The Index describes a gold-saving machine invented by a Lundyite that he claims will winnow gold from sand as effectually as a threshing machine separates wheat from chaff. The machine is mounted on wheels and the motive for operating it is a windmill.—Enterprise.

When Jim quits publishing the Index, then you'll know that his machine works all right.
